

HANDBOOK ON ANIMAL WELFARE LAWS

For enforcement officers

CHAPTER I

Preliminary

Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section.

The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request.

1. Short title and extent

(1) This Act may be called the Sample Animals Act.

(a) any animal kept for use or for food;

(b) any animal which is in captivity or which is domesticated;

CHAPTER II

Duties of the municipal body

The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request. Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court.

Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court. An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it.

An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it. Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section. The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request.

The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request. Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court.

Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court. An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it.

What to record

- The date, time and place of the examination.
- The species, sex and approximate age of the animal.
- Every injury, with its size and its likely cause, described in plain words a magistrate can follow.

Penalties at a glance

Offence	First conviction	Repeat
Beating or kicking	Fine	Fine or prison
Overloading	Fine	Fine or prison
Abandonment	Fine	Prison

Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section. An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it. The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request.

The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request. Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section. Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court.

Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court. The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request. An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it.

An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it. Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court. Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section. An animal birth control programme works only when it covers a large enough share of the dogs in an area within a short enough time. Partial coverage spread thinly across a city does not stabilise the population and wastes the money spent on it. The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request.

CHAPTER III

Offences

Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any animal, beats, kicks, over-rides, over-drives, over-loads, tortures or otherwise treats any animal so as to subject it to unnecessary pain or suffering shall be punishable in accordance with the provisions of this section.

The municipal body shall maintain a register of every complaint received, the date on which it was received, the officer to whom it was assigned and the action taken, and shall make the register available for inspection by any member of the public on request.

Veterinary officers are often the first public servants to examine an injured animal. Their certificate is evidence, and a certificate written promptly and precisely can decide whether a case succeeds. This chapter explains what the certificate should record and why each item matters to the court.